Discover the Inspiring Music of Vince Redhouse at Thunderbird Artists' Carefree Fine Art & Wine Festival

Vince Redhouse of Redheart is proudly named featured musician in Downtown Carefree for Thunderbird Artists' 14th Annual Carefree Fine Art & Wine Festival, November 2nd, 3rd & 4th, 2007.

Vince Redhouse plays numerous instruments including the Native American Flute, saxophone and guitar, giving a fresh new spin to smooth ethnic jazz. Redhouse has been playing music since he was a child and grew up in a family band, the Redhouse Dancers, which performed traditional Native American music and dances. At age twelve he switched his musical passion to the saxophone and discovered jazz. Since then he has received countless awards and earned Grammy nominations for each of his first two CD's.

"Music for me is the greatest expression of spirit and heart...it is the gift I feel I can share with others," says Vince. He believes music is the only sound that soothes and has passion. He hopes that through his music people are transformed to a place of peace.

Also performing at the festival will be Brule' with AIRO, Wind Rodriguez (Wayra), and Michael Marc Zanabili. Brule' and AIRO mix the flute, piano, traditional drums, and various guitars together forming a truly unbelievable sound. Wayra uses his Native American Cedar Flute to give new life to traditional songs and Michael Marc Zanabili adds an amazing acoustic touch with his Flamenco Guitar. Michael translates subtle feelings into music, giving importance to every single note and thus developing an intimacy with his audience.

Be sure not to miss the invigorating sounds of these talented musicians, November 2nd, 3rd, and 4th, 2007, 10am to 5pm. It's an opportunity to witness and engage with four phenomenal musical artists. It will be a truly unforgettable affaire!
